

HANA PLANTATION

HANA, MAUI

Located on the lush eastern coast of Maui, Hana Plantation is comprised of 125 acres containing seven contiguous, agriculturally zoned lots from 7 to 28 acres, in an area of Hana known as East Honomā‘ele. Elevations from 80 to 400 feet provide each of the seven lots with distinct qualities. Groves of 100 year old Mango and banyan trees, macadamia nut, avocado, citrus, and more, thrive in this fertile soil. Great pride and years of attentiveness are reflected in the well-groomed and maintained pastures, with ocean and pastoral views throughout.

The property is conveniently situated six miles from the town of Hana, the Hotel Hana-Maui, and within minutes of the Hana Airport. Nearby are rainforests dotted with cascading waterfalls, sparkling blue pools, and isolated sandy beaches. The renowned author, James Michener, referred to the beautiful beaches and coastline of Hana as “Heavenly”.

This area of Honomā‘ele and Kaeleku is rich in Hawaiian history and agriculture. Remnants of the transportation network used to haul sugarcane during the sugar plantation era are still evident on the 125 acre parcel called “Hana Plantation”.

Hana Plantation is served by a private water system, and all utilities have been provided to each lot. Build your Hana home in one of the most beautiful locations in the world.
